Six women at the University of Wyoming who sued their sorority for admitting a man who identifies as transgender have been told that their lawsuit should be dismissed by leaders of Kappa Kappa Gamma (KKG).

Artemis Langford, whose real name is Dallin, has allegedly been watching the women undress in their own sorority house, with a visible erection.

The lawyers for Kappa Kappa Gamma depicted the suit as an attempt by "a vocal minority" (the women) to impose their personal beliefs at the cost of Langford and the sorority.

"Perhaps the greatest wrongs in this case are not the ones Plaintiffs and their supporters imagine they have suffered, but the ones that they have inflicted through their conduct since filing the Complaint," they wrote. "Regardless of personal views on the rights of transgender people, the cruelty that Plaintiffs and their supporters have shown towards Langford and anyone in Kappa who supports Langford is disturbing."

I was blown away when he told them "I'll leave (the slumber party) once you all go to sleep." Then to hear he has had to use pillows to cover his erection when watching the girls!! This is horrible on so many levels for them.

Leave the sororities. Let them try to run them as male spaces. Good luck

The KKG attorneys are showing how much they despise women in these statements. They only care about the feelings of a male. #Misogyny

The respondent always does this. They are trying to socially pressure the court to see their view & pre try the matter in the court of public opinion. Wyoming courts are sloth slow when it comes to adopting social trends, for which in this instance I'm grateful.

It truly shakes me to my core that women must take spiritual, mental, emotional, and physical losses to accommodate perverted men throughout history and forever.

This is awful. This man is a chancer. Those poor girls. A sorority is a sacred experience for growing women. He has taken this away from them. Vile, vile man

Did he lose his erection, and if so to be awarded great sums for his suffering? This is basically the big concern when it's boiled down to reality.

These sorority's are often silent on rape in their college community, my daughter's was.

These sorority's have alumni, and do they support the man amidst their daughters and Littles?

Typical DARVO defense. But your lede sentence should read "...told by leaders of KKG sorority that their lawsuit against the sorority should be dismissed." Otherwise it infers that KKG is telling them to back out, rather than simply posturing.

Living in a society where legislation passes more laws to protect people who dress like women rather than real women is sexist inoculation of the perverted variety.
